NOVEMBER 6. 1740. NUMB. 621.

The Pennſylvania GAZETTE

Containing the freſheſt Advices Foreign and Domeſtick.

CADIZ, June 20. O. S.

AS Admiral Haddock continues to cruize with his Squadron upon the Coaſts of Gallicia and Catalonia, Troops are poſted along the Sea-ſide to prevent a Deſcent.

Madrid, June 24. O. S. Upon Advice that a Fleet of 25 Ships of War is equipping in England, the Command of which is to be given to Admiral Norris, the Court has ſent divers Orders to all the Sea Ports of this Kingdom, it being reported that that Fleet is to make ſome Attempt on theſe Coaſts.

July 1. O. S. The Court has ordered fifteen Regiments to march into Gallicia and Biſcay, in order to ſecure the Coaſt of thoſe Provinces from any Suprize. A Treaty is talk'd of between his Sardinian Majeſty, this Court, and that of Naples for preſerving the Tranquility of Italy. The Orders given by the Court for augmenting the Troops encamped about Gibraltar, makes it believ'd that a Reſolution has been taken to undertake the Siege of that Place. This Opinion too is confirm'd by the Arrival of ſeveral foreign Engineers, which, it's ſaid, will be employ'd in that Siege. The neceſſary Diſpoſitions are making at Cadiz and Ferrol, for vigorouſly defending thoſe Places in caſe Admiral Norris's Fleet ſhould attack either of them, about which the Publick has its Diſquietudes.

Paris, July 14. O. S. This Court continues to uſe its Endeavours to prevent the War between Great Britain and Spain from having any Conſequence which may affect the Tranquility of Europe.

Cadiz, June 18. O. S. A Negotiation is much talk'd of here of a new Treaty of Commerce between Spain and France. Amongſt the many Advantages which will be thereby granted to the French, it's ſaid, that they will not only have the Privilege of introducing their Manufactures into Spain preferably to thoſe of other Nations, but that they will obtain the Aſſiento Contract.

Paris, July 22. A few Days ſince an Expreſs arriv'd here from Spain, and continues his Rout to Compeigne with all poſſible Diligence, having Diſpatches from the Count de la Marck, the Kings Embaſſador at the Court of Madrid. Tho' we are not acquainted with the Contents of thoſe Diſpatches, yet ſome People pretend to know, that that Courier carried the Treaty of Commerce concluded betwen this Court and that of Madrid, ſigned and ratified by the King of Spain; and they add, that by this Treaty, his Catholick Majeſty grants much greater Advantages to the French than ever the Engliſh enjoy'd in Spain. If this be true, we muſt fight no longer with Spain to obtain Satisfaction for our plunder'd Merchants. A FREE TRADE to the Spaniſh Weſt-Indies muſt now be the Word.

Weymouth, July 23. Wind N. N. W. Yeſterday Morning ſail'd his Majeſty's Ships Wincheſter, Southſeacaſtle, and Hound, with the Fleet of Merchant Ships under their Convoy for Virini a, Newfoundland, &c.

London, July 17. Laſt Week the Mob at Norwich roſe again on account of the Dealers in Corn not lowering the Price of thoſe Commodities, when a ſmart Engagement enſued between them, and ſeven Perſons were kill'd on the Spot.

July 19. The Britannia, a firſt Rate Man of War, is ordered to be put into Commiſſion, as are alſo 12 of the Line.

July 28. The Right Hon. the Earl of Crawford, one of the Sixteen Peers of Scotland, Colonel of the new raiſed Regiment of Foot, and Adjutant General of his Majeſty's Forces, who was ſhot thro' the Body at the Battle of Crotzka, being recovered of his Wounds, is arrived at Hanover from Vienna on his return to England.

There is Advice that the King of Spain has ſent ſtrict Orders to the Intendant of St. Sebaſtian, to take an Account of the Names of the Priſoners, their Ages, and the Places they belong to in England, and for the future that a ſtrong Guard ſhould be kept at all the Gates, that not one Engliſhman ſhould eſcape.

There is alſo Advice, that the Priſoners at the above Placeare treated with more Severity than ever, in order to oblige them to take on in the Spaniſh Service; and that about 30 of them have accordingly enter'd.

The Preſs on the River Thames is now as great as ſince the Declaration of War; the Ships in the River being viſited every Day.

July 29 Letters from Madrid, by the Way of Genoa adviſe, that the Spaniards continue ſending Proviſions and Ammunition to Majorca, and that all the Galleys and other light Ships are to aſſemble, and watch the Abſence of Admiral Haddock's Squadron, in order to paſs over to Minorca.

The Preſs for Seamen is ſo hotly revived, that there is a Cluſter of no leſs than eight Tenders, Smacks, &c. lying within a Stone's caſt of each other, off the Tower Wharf, to impreſs Men for his Majeſty's Service, whoſe Gangs are ſo ſtrict, that they take even the Men that belong to the Ballaſt Office, and carry them off, unleſs they have their Certificates about them.

They write from Gibraltar, that the Spaniards before that Place have received a Reinforcement of 2 or 3000 Men, and erected a Battery of Culverines of 18 Feet long, with which they annoy all the Ships that come into the Bay by the Old Mole, ſo that they are all obliged to Anchor in the New Mole.

We hear from Spain, that about the latter End of laſt Month, 30 Batallions and 40 Squadrons were marching to their Sea Coaſts to defend them againſt a Deſcent from England; which is but a ſmall Number of Troops, even when added to the former, conſidering the Extent of Coaſt they have to guard, and that the Militia are good for nothing. And, that the Ferrol Squadron ſailed about the ſame Time, conſiſting of 16 Men of War and 3 Frigats, with 2000, ſome ſay 4000, Land Forces on board; but whither bound cannot as yet be known.

LONDON August 30.

Extract of a Letter from Captain Cowper, of the Townshend Packet.

St. Sebastian, July 16, N. S.

ON the 24th of June, O. S. in Lat. 48 the Lizard then bearing E. N. E. Distance 62 Leagues, at seven in the Morning, at the clearing of a Fog, saw a Sail to Windward, about a League distant: I saw immediately he edg'd towards us, at which Time I call'd all Hands up, and clear'd Ship, and made what Sail I could from him; but to my great Misfortune he came up with us fast; (though when we came out of Lisbon his Majesty's Snow the Fly come off the Coast with us, and we wrong'd him every way) about 10 in the Morning his Chace Guns reach'd us, and by half an Hour past 12 was within Musket Shot Distance; when we began to engage, and held it till six in the Evening, the last Hour not half Pistol Shot Distance; he endeavoured to board me once, but I prevented him; I soon found him a Ship of Force, by the Volleys of small Shot I received; but all my Hopes was to dismast him; for if I had been so lucky as to have carried away a Topmast or a Yard, I had haul'd upon a Wind and got clear of him. I kill'd the Enemy's first Boatswain, and wounded some of his Men at which Time they hid under the long-Boat, wrung their Hands, and went to Prayers, and had it not been for the second Captain would have left me. (This one Capt. Dowglass inform'd me, who was aboard, taken in Lat. 49, three Days before) I shot his Main-top-gallant mast half through.---This was a new Ship, call'd N. S. del Carmes Alias las Animai, mounts 24 Guns, and had on board 20 Guns, all Six-Pounders and four of one Pound each on the Quarter Deck, with 180 Men, 50 of which were Soldiers, for the small Arms. By this Time I had two kill'd, and six desperately Wounded, and three Cowards that never were at their Quarters, the Gunner, one of them, who I think deserves to be hang'd, for I wanted several Stores, that was in his Custody; my Sails and standing Rigging all shot to Pieces, 30 Inches Water in her Hold, and could spare no Body to Pump, main Channels, and every Port shot away, and the Hull beat to Pieces; and now he attempted once more to board me, and having no Strength to resist him, I ordered the Mail and my Lord's Dispatches to be thrown over board, and then, with great regret, struck; having on board, upwards of 1100 Moidores----This Ship is not six Months old, and has taken eight Prizes in the Channel, and near Ireland, and brought them into this Port of St. Sebastian's, here are two more of 12 Guns each; these Ships have taken already 56 Sail, most of them large Ships. My wounded Men are in the Hospital, and others in the Castle, where there are 150 Men in one Room. I and my Mate have Liberty to lodge in the Town, but not to stir out without Leave.

They write from Madrid, that an Advocate with several Accomplices have been lately hang'd at the Groyne, for corresponding with the English Consul at Oporto, in order to further a Descent in Gallicia. They had received large Sums of Money, one of them in particular 1000 Guineas, to facilitate the Execution of this Project.

Extract of a Letter from Amsterdam.

" Every Body's Attention is at present fix'd upon the Motion of the Forces now put to Sea by Great Britain; and most People make their Conjectures about the Destination of Admiral Norris's Fleet, and of the Squadrons of Lord Cathcart and Commodore Anson. The most received Opinion is, that Lord Cathcart's Squadron is certainly to join the Forces already in America, under the Command of Admiral Vernon, and will endeavour to make themselves Masters of the Island of Cuba, which, it's said, is to be attempted with twenty Men of War, and twelve thousand Land Forces; during which, Commodore Anson, with his Squadron, will sail towards Buenos-Ayres, in order to execute some Enterprize in those Parts; and from thence will go to the Coasts of the South Sea, from Lima as far as California, in quest, amidst other Designs, of the rich Acapulco Ship. Whilst these Things shall be doing in America, Admiral Norris will be observing, upon the Coasts of Spain, the Motions of the Ferrol and Cadiz Squadrons, and watching for an Opportunity of burning them, which it's assured, he has Orders to do. Our Politicians pretend, that if the Expedition against Cuba should succeed, Peace would immediately follow, for that the English would then have it in their Power to oblige the Spaniards to comply with their Terms.

Sept. 11. It is positively asserted that seven Men of War belonging to Sir John Norris's Squadron are ordered to join those already intended for the Lord Cathcart's Expedition.

We hear that four Ships of 80 Guns each, are order'd to join Commodore Anson.

Yesterday came Advice from Portsmouth, that the Squadrons under the Command of Vice-Admiral Balchen, Commodore Anson, and Commodore Gascoigne, that sail'd the 4th Instant from St. Helen's with a fair Wind, are since return'd into that Road, having had hard Gales of Wind, in which two Transports belonging to Lord Cathcart receiv'd considerable Damage by running foul of an outward-bound Turky Ship.

We hear the Parliament will meet on Tuesday the 18th of November, for the Dispatch of Business.

This Day his Royal Highness the Duke of Cumberland arriv'd at St. James's from on board the Boyne at Torbay; Sir John Norris's Fleet being order'd back to Spithead.

We hear that the French are hard at Work, in fitting out six more Men of War, but for what Purpose is not known.

BOSTON, October 27.

On Saturday last arrived here Capt. Humphrys in 5 Weeks and 2 Days from Plymouth, and by a Passenger that came in him, we learn that Sir John Norris with part of the Fleet under his Command, was return'd to Spithead, and that the Expedition he was designed for is put off, the Year being too far advanced; and that it was supposed Lord Cathcart with the Forces sailed from St. Helens the same Day that Capt. Humphrys came away; that the Fleet that was to go with them under the Admirals Balchen, Stuart and Ogle, consisted of the following Ships, viz. the Shrewsbury, Boyne, Princess Carolina, Chichester, Torbay, Cambridge, Norfolk, Cumberland, Russel, and Princess Amelia, of 80 Guns each, the Buckingham, Elizabeth, Prince of Orange, Prince Frederick, Lenox, Kent, Orford, Suffolk, and Grafton, of 70 Guns; the Superbe, Jersey, Dunkirk, Deptford, Weymouth, Lyon, Augusta, Rippon, York, Montague, Litchfield, Assistance, Franckland, Newcastle, of 60 Guns, and the Sea Horse of 20 Guns, with 6 Fireships, and 2 Hospital Ships, This Account the Gentleman had from one of the Lieutenants who belong'd to the said Fleet.

Extract of a Letter from Antigua, dated Sept. 13.

On the 31st of August we had a violent Hurricane all over the Islands, laying all waste. We had Eleven Sail ashore here, five of which are entirely lost.--- We have an Account from St. Christophers, that all the Ships and Men there are entirely lost, to the Number of Eight Sail; and we have an Account of Wrecks both to Windward and Leeward by all Vessels that come in. A Snow from Guinea is come into this Road, who to the Windward of Barbados met at Sea the Fore-Yard, Bowsprit and Cut-water of a large Ship: The Yard they cut away and took on board, and it measured seventy Feet long, and was two Foot and an half Diameter.

New-York, Nov. 3. The Mr. Rev. WHITEFIELD preach'd here on Friday, Saturday and Sunday laſt; and, 'tis ſaid, he this Day ſets out for Philadelphia. A wonderful Preſence of GOD was obſerv'd in the Aſſembly on Sunday Night.

Capt. Keteltas is juſt now arrived in 6 Weeks from Dover, and brings Advice, that the French and Spaniſh Fleets were joined at Malaga, and were taking Spaniſh Forces on board: That the Lord Cathcart attempted to go out of the Channel three Times, and was forced back by bad Weather, and was gone back to Spithead to Re-victual. Commodore Anſon with nine Sail of Men of War turn'd out of the Channel with Capt. Keteltas.

PHILADELPHIA, November 6.
